NEWS AND COMMENT.

HALSTEAD is making it lively for INGALLS, EVARTS & Co.

NATHAN F. DIXON has been elected Senator from Rhode Island.

IT took Mr. HARRISON just one month to take post master PEARSON'S scalp, of New York city.

BOULANGER will have to seek refuge in other quarters than Belgium, that Government having warned him to "git!"

RUMORS are current in Washington that Mr. HARRISON and BLAINE both want to be President, and thereby hangs a tale.

THE "unsightly scramble for office" goes bravely on at the "seat of war" and the administration hatchet is getting in some pretty heavy blows.

JUDGE WALTER CLARK introduced himself to the people of Cleveland county last week by fining six witnesses $80 each for not being on time.

IT has not been definitely decided upon as yet who will be President, BLAINE or HARRISON. Some queer things happen in this world. HARRISON may get there yet.

STRANGE as it may sound to the casual reader, it is nevertheless true, that the men who first discovered HARRISON wish they hadn't, seeing that he has persistently refused to discover them.

THE wildest excitement was created in Stanly county Monday by three negroes galloping through the country on horseback, firing at everybody they saw. Two white men received flesh wounds and the negroes have since been jailed.

THE New York World says the tenacity of the Democratic party is something beautiful to behold. The same may be said of some Republican editors who get knocked on the head by the United States Senate. MURATT HALSTEAD, for instance.

NORTH CAROLINA seems to have received considerable attention by the present administration in the removal of Democratic officials. But then you know North Carolina gave a clean cut Democratic majority of about fifteen thousand last fall.

WE have sad news for the United States. It is rumored that France will refuse to accept WHITLAW REID, of the N. Y. Tribune, as Minister to that country. What a blessing it would be to the United States if she could rid herself of such men as REID.

WITH a face as long as your arm, and eyes all filled with tears, Col. BOYD, of Guilford, has returned from Washington, whither he has been offering his services to serve the dear people in a foreign land. Since his return he is a wiser if not a sadder man.

IT turns out that all this noise about President HARRISON'S having tendered Mrs. STONEWALL JACKSON the Charlotte post office, is a canard. The Washington correspondent of the Durham Daily Plant telegraphs that paper that the report had no foundation at that end of the line, and that such a thing "had never been thought of for a moment."

WELL says the Wilmington Messenger, "the South is bound to stand solidly in her support and maintenance of the Democracy. The Democratic is the only national party of the country and the only political organization under which the southern people can hope for national recognition, protection, or justice, or the proper promotion of the interests of their section."

THE Philadelphia Record announces that it is "whispered around the public corners in Washington—in fact, it is 'in the air' there as well as everywhere—that Brother BLAINE is to the Administration somewhat as the thumb is to the hand. No one can deny the usefulness of the thumb; but when Benjamin says 'thumbs up' up they go." At this juncture little JOHNNY WANNAMAKER exclaims: Rise thimble! and the Plumed Knight jumps to his feet.

Curious Facts.

A correspondent of the Columbia Record gives the following curious facts from his memorandum:

1. The South Carolina railroad, from Charleston to Hamburg, was the first road that was commenced in this country with a view of using steam instead of animal power.

2. That the first locomotive engine ever built in this country was built for this road.

3. That it was the first road that carried the United States mail.

4. That when completed and ready for use, which was on the 2nd October, 1833, it was the longest road in the world. We traveled upon this road in 1830 five miles in car rigged with sails and propelled by wind at the rate of five or six miles an hour.

Here is a horse question from a correspondent to the Scientific American. Figure it out and we will promise to answer next week: The question is: A man sold a horse for $80, bought him back again for $70, and sold him a second time for $100. What did he make in the transaction.

STATE NEWS.

☞ FUNDING THE NORTH CAROLINA DEBT.—The General Assembly of North Carolina, at its session in 1879, passed an act authorizing the funding of certain issues of State bonds. The exchange has continued until the recognized bonded debt has been reduced from $12,627,000 to $1,901,300, which latter amount is yet outstanding. The funding act having expired was renewed by the late General Assembly until July 1st, 1890, and the State Treasurer is engaged in issuing the new four per cent bonds in exchange for the old bonds.

The recognized bonds are divided into three classes, as follows:

Issued before May 20, 1861, the last date of which is April 1, 1861, fundable at forty per cent of principal.

Issued during and since the late war by authority of acts passed prior thereto; fundable at twenty-five per cent of the principal.

Issued by authority of the funding acts of March 10, 1866, and August 20, 1868; fundable at fifteen per cent of the principal.—Raleigh News and Observer.

☞ OFFICERS ELECTED.—The Sunday school Convention, in Charlotte last week, was very largely attended and characterized by earnestness and zeal. The body was permanently organized by the election of the following officers: President, Rev. T. H. Pritchard, D. D., of Wilmington; Vice-Presidents — 1st, Rev. E. A. Yates, D. D., of Durham; 2nd, Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, of Wilmington; 3rd, W. S Newton; 4th, S. W. Reid, of Steel Creek; 5th, Capt. A. G. Brenizer, of Charlotte; 6th, W. E. Swain, of Winston; 7th, D. H. Albright, of Sandy Grove; 8th, W. A. Blair, of Winston; Secretary, Prof. J. W. Gore, of Chapel Hill; Assistant Secretary, W. S. Robertson, of Chapel Hill, Statistical Secretary, H. N. Snow, of Durham.

☞ BURNED OUT.—There was a sad case of burning at Moss Neck, in Robeson county, last Saturday. Wm. C. McNeill, Esq., lost his dwelling, outhouses and everything he had, except his horses and a part of his household furniture. His total loss is about $2,000—not a cent of insurance.—Rockingham Rocket.

☞ SNOW IN CHATHAM.—On last Saturday quite a cold wave swept over this section of the country, amounting almost to a blizzard—at least for this season of the year. The wind blew with great violence and was piercingly cold, and in the afternoon it was accompanied with quite a flurry of snow.—Chatham Record.

☞ 50,000 baskets will be required by the Raleigh shippers, in which to market their grapes to say nothing of strawberries, raspberries, peaches and other fruits.—Progressive Farmer.

☞ There will be a competitive examination at Warsaw on the 1st of May, for the naval cadetship to which the Third Congressional District is entitled.—Wilmington Star.

☞ Dr S. S. Satchwell, has removed from Rocky Point to Burgaw, where he will practice his profession.—Raleigh Visitor.

AN ACT

Explanatory of the recent Acts for the relief of Sheriffs, Tax Collectors and their Sureties and Representatives passed by the General Assembly of 1889.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Whereas, the above recited Act was not generally known to parties interested; and, whereas, certain special acts for the relief of sheriffs, tax-collectors and their sureties and personal representatives, were also not generally known among or understood by the people, and doubts have arisen as to the power and authority granted by said Acts; now, therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That any sheriff, tax collector or the sureties or personal representatives of such, who are now authorized by law to collect taxes or arrears of taxes, may advertise and sell lands for taxes due and unpaid on the first Monday in May, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and may sell personal property for taxes due and unpaid at any time after due advertisement.

Sec. 2. That any and all parties for whose benefit Acts for the collection of taxes have been passed at the present session of this General Assembly, may take benefit under this act: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to forbid or disallow persons who have paid their taxes from making the oath to the same as authorized by the general and special statutes, and any sale made when the oath shall have been taken shall be void: Provided, however, that all sales made under the present law, or as the law was before the passage of the several Acts and of which the sheriffs and tax-collectors did not have notice are hereby validated.

Sec. 3. That this Act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified the 9th day of March, 1889.

For Round Shoulders.

I have seen a stooping figure and a halting gait, accompanied by the unavoidable weakness of lungs incidental to a narrow chest, entirely cured by the very simple and easily performed exercises of raising one's self upon the toes leisurely in a perpendicular several times daily. To take this exercise properly one must take a perfect position, with the heels together and the toes at an angle of 45°. Then drop the arms lifelessly by the sides, animating and raising the chest to its full capacity muscularly, the chin being well drawn in and the crown of the head feeling, as our professor used to put it, as if attached to a string suspended from the ceiling above. Slowly rise upon the balls of both feet to the greatest possible height, thereby exercising all the muscles of the legs and body; come again into the standing position without swaying the body backward out of the perfect line. Repeat this same exercise, first on one foot then on the other. It is wonderful what a straightening-out power this exercise has upon the shoulders and crooked backs, and one will be surprised to note how soon the lungs begin to show the effect of such expansive development.

PUBLIC OPINION.

A St. Louis dispatch reports that the bagging trust or pool, which expired by limitation last December, is to be revived, but the plan of operation will not exactly be the same as last year, and prices are not expected to be pushed up so high.

Now, North Carolina farmers, you have warning in time. Last year you were taken unawares, and between your unwillingness to submit to oppression and the necessity for marketing your cotton, you were in sore straits. It will not be safe to place reliance in the statement that "prices are not expected to be pushed up so high." If the bagging trust is formed prices will be pushed to the highest possible notch. Just tell your ginners and merchants that you will not buy "trust bagging." Instruct them that the pine straw bagging, which is manufactured right here in your own State, is what you want. You can get it.—Biblical Recorder.

Ex-Judge Tourgee's infamous paper in the current number of the Forum, entitled "Shall White Minorities Rule?" sounds like the infamous circular issued by the Republican Legislators from Raleigh in 1868. Tourgee, as was to be expected, resorts to a perversion of facts and figures, making his own premises his own conclusion, and in the most incendiary spirit suggests the sword and the torch which Gen. Sherman in one of his aberrated moments measured out to us last summer.—Wilmington Messenger.

***

It is not at all pleasant to know that in the North Carolina penitentiary there are 35 convicts between the ages of eight and fifteen years, and 365 between fifteen and twenty. The suggestion of the Swain county Herald that the State should establish a house of correction where juvenile criminals could be removed from the influences of hardened convicts, is a good one.—Asheville Citizen.

***

The President is represented as having having made it plain to colored office-seekers from the South that they have very little to expect from him, and it is said that he proposes to recognize the protectionists of the South and to try in this way to make the dividing line of the parties not upon color but upon the economic policy.—Raleigh News & Observer.

In this city there are 7,146 children of school age. Of these 4,511 are black. The sum appropriated is $10,869. Negrophilists and South haters in the North will take note that of this sum $6,766.50 go to the negro schools. Of this sum 90 per cent. at least comes out of the white tax payers.—Wilmington Star.

Raleigh News and Observer on the Centennial Celebration in Fayetteville

The patriotic people of Fayetteville are thinking of celebrating in due form and on an appropriate scale the hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the State of North Carolina, which anniversary, as our readers know will fall in November next. We desire to be counted into the movement for any and all the aid we may be able to afford. We hope the whole State will take a lively interest in the project. We know no people likely to come up to the requirements of the occasion more fully than the Fayettevillians. We know few communities that would be likely to do so as fully. For if true patriotism exists anywhere in the country it burns in the breasts of the generous Cross "Crick" ers; if noble impulses are anywhere to be found they spring from the hearts of the hospitable dwellers on the banks of the Cape Fear river; if taste and skill in the arrangement and management of the public celebrations are anywhere displayed they are shown when the people of the town of Lafayette put their heads to such undertakings. This is not taffy. It is simply facts and we will be borne out in the assertion by any Tar-heel acquainted with the brethren of the Cape Fear country. We wish the project for the celebration every succes. We solicit in its behalf the active interest of every North Carolinian. We hope it will be kept well before the public until its consummation. Then we have no fear but that the Fayetteville people will do everything that shall remain to be done in a way that will make the celebration is the highest degree worthy of the event to be celebrated and creditable to the State of North Carolina.

Brother Jonathan.

The origin of this term, as applied to the United States is as follows:

When General Washington, after being appointed commander of the army of the Revolutionary War, went to Massachusets to organize it, he found a great want of ammunition and other means of defense; and on one occasion it seemed that no means could be devised for the necessary safety. Jonathan Trumbull, the elder was then Governor of the State of Connecticut; and the General placing the greatest reliance on his excellency's judgment, remarked; "We must consult Brother Jonathan on the subject." The General did so, and the Governor was successful in supplying many of the wants of the army; and thenceforward, when difficulties arose, and the army was spread over the country, it became a by-phrase, "We must consult Brother Jonathan;" and the name has now become a designation for the whole country, as John Bull has for England.

English and American Phrases.

Prentice Mulford.]

The poorest Englishman has the luxury of burning soft coal, and his parlor or kitchen open grate fire, with its playing flames, is, in cheerfulness, far beyond our glowing, but flameless masses. They say over there, "coals on sale," and not "coal for sale." There is in some respects quite a difference between the "King's English" and the "President's English." For our "livery stable" they hang out "cars on hire." A pitcher over "there is a jug;" the word "tumbler" is greek to them; baggage is "luggage;" a roasting piece of beef is a "joint," and a street car is a "tram." I asked a London "bus" driver once if he was going to the river, meaning the Thames. I do not think he had ever heard the word before as applicable to any thing at or near London. The Thames in London is "Westminister," "Waterloo," Blackfriars," "London," or some other bridge. They have forgotten there it ever was a river.

"PERFECT PEACE."

By Henry Blount in Wilson Mirror.]

The only perfect rest, the only perfect happiness, the only perfect tranquility that mortals can have on earth is found alone in the blessed promise and blissful hope of immortality. Without that beautiful hope to fling its precious perfume o'er the bitter scenes of life; without that radiant dream to shed its cheering beams o'er the sombre fret work of care and sorrow; without that sweet and comforting assurance to sing its songs of rapture to deaden the awful roar of the terrible river of death—yea without these dear and sweet and blessed agencies to soothe, to comfort and to cheer by unfolding the fadeless glories and unspeakable riches of blissful Hereafter in that Land of Light—yea without these, existence will be barren and fruitless and we will find at last that the flowers of worldly pleasure, which once shed their perfume upon our senses, have so soon withered and faded and died, that their odors have been scattered, and that only the sharp and pointed thorns remain to tell of their departed glories. Yes, we will find that the chalice of festive enjoyment, around whose ruby and sparkling brims of delight the brightest dimples of joyous merriment danced in ripplings of fondest glee, has so soon grown to be the sombre cup of blackest despair, and with the poisonous dregs of bitterest woe at its bottom. We may gain fame, renown, reputation, riches and all of the emoluments of the world, and yet if we have not "that peace which passeth understanding" all these things will be nothing more than "sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal!" The history of the world, written out in human experience, is replete with evidences of this truth, and they speak with a voice of thunder—a voice more expressive than the eloquence laden tongue of Tully, more symphonious than the sweet-toned measure of Homer, and richer and more graphic in its portraiture than the most gorgeous colorings ever made by the artistic pencil of Appelles. Yes the grandest achievements of human genius, and the most brilliant attainments of human effort are as evanescent as the mists which greet the coming morn, and they only please and charm for a moment, for like the bright, glittering dew drops which sparkle so radiantly upon the sunkissed flowers, they yield to the inexorable fiat of mutability, and pass away like some delightful ripples of a beautiful dream which dance for a moment on the bosom of sleep, and then leave, like bubbles on the river, without one sign of their brief and transitory existence.

It will be seen then that the perishing things of this world—fame, honor, wealth and renown cannot give us perfect happiness and that blessed peace and tranquility of mind for which the soul doth crave. But there is a happiness, Jesus-given, and it is unbroken and eternal, for it is born in the blessed promise of "Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest," and, thank God, it is within the reach of all sin-stained humanity the wide world over. And yet in the face of all this, men will persist in collecting worthless shells on the bleak and dreary seashore of time, and try in vain to be content therewith, while the great ocean of eternity, embedded with its pearls of happiness, attracts but little notice, and fails to win the affections from those sordid things of the world which perish with their using, and yet satisfieth not.

Reader, are you collecting shells or are you striving for pearls. Which? You must answer. If the latter, your life here will catch a beautiful gleam of the radiant sunburst of immortality, and your days will be calm and serene and glorious and beautiful, for our Savior hath given this sweet assurance "My peace I give unto you, not as the world giveth, give I unto you." And that peace—that sweet soothing, blessed peace—will give to all the countless and unmeasured and unfathomable blessings of Heaven's holliest and sweetest calm, and in its precious and refreshing and delightful and soothing hush we will find the blessed balm for all the bruises received while battling with the storms and the conflicts of this poor, sin cursed earth.

Haunts and Habits of the Quail.

New York World.]

The quail (Bob White,) so generally distributed throughout the States, is a resident over all of the Mississippi Valley, except in the extreme West and Northwest. In Minnesota it has followed up the settlements, and in the eastern part of the State it has reached the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad about latitude forty-six degrees In Southeastern Dakota it is abundant, and has advanced to about forty four degrees thirty minutes. Northwestern Minnesota and most of Dakota are yet to be occupied by this species.

To the question that is often asked, whether the habit quails have of "lying to a dog" is natural or acquired. Professor W. W. Cook, in his report on Bird Migration, says: "To get a satisfactory answer, one has only to hunt in different parts of Indian Territory. In the region west of Fort Sill the quails never think of stopping when the see a dog, but run as fast as they can, and upon his near approach they flush immediately, just as it may be supposed they do on the approach of a coyote. In the eastern part of the Territory, near the railroad the quail lie quite well to a dog, and as they are exceeding abundant, afford excellent sport from November to March. The range of the Texas quail extends northward to Western Kansas. In the neighborhood of San Antonio these quail often come close to the ranch and lay eggs in hen's nests, and at San Angelo they are reported as raising two broods a year.

The Early Bird.

Mrs. McSpilkins hired an alleged colored lady to cook, and gave her very particular instructions about early rising. After she had got through she asked Matildy what was the first thing she had to do in the morning.

"Get up and dress myself."

"No such thing."

"De fust thing I must do in de mornings am ter make de fire,"

"No, that's not the first thing you are to do."

"Den I has done forgot it."

"The first thing you have to do in the morning, before you get up, is to chop up the kindling wood and have it ready the evening before."

It is easier to lay plans than to hatch them.

Durham Excited—A Railroad War Imminent.

Raleigh News & Observer.]

Durham is excited. It is gathered that this time the trouble arises from a surplus of railroads.

It seems that on Saturday night the board of town commissioners granted to the Durham and Northern Railway a franchise to lay their track along Peabody street. Some of the people of Durham objected to this proceeding and there was serious talk of an injunction on Monday.

The Durham Plant of Tuesday says: Monday there was commotion and astonishment over the action of the board of Town Commissioners in so hastily granting the use of Peabody street, one of our principal thoroughfares, to the Durham & Northern railroad for the extension of their track Tuesday morning the state of astonishment was intensified when it was found that the construction corps between the hours of midnight and daybreak had covered about half the distance of the right of way with cross ties and rails, and was still hard at work trying to cover the entire distance before legal action could be taken to call a halt. About 9:30 Tuesday morning, Superintendent Bridgers, of the Richmond and Danville road, had secured a warrant for trespass, when a number of the workmen were put under arrest and the work stopped. The force of sixty hands and six two horse teams was put at work at 12 o'clock at night.

There was no grading done, the track following the grade of the street, up and down hill, with very short curves in one or two places.

The Durham Sun of yesterday morning says: The whole gang repaired to the court house where they spent the day awaiting the proper adjudication of the matter. The warrant was made returnable before Squire M. A. Angier, but he being a director of the N. C. road, and a probable party to the action in case of a civil suit, declined to sit upon the case. Justices Redmond, Wilkins and Vickers were selected and at 3 o'clock the case was called. Much interest was manifested in the proceedings by our citizens and the court house was crowded. The R. & D. was represented by Maj. W. A. Guthrie and the D. & N. road by R. B. Boone.

Every point in the case was stubbornly contended for by the counsel on either side and after a patient hearing of nearly five hours the contractors and workmen of the D. & N. were discharged, the justices holding the opinion that there was not evidence sufficient to sustain the charge of trespass.

The Durham & Northern railroad were stopped in their track laying yesterday, but they are at it again. It is very probable that by the time this is read it will be completed to Duke's factory. As we write, in the early morning hours, the hands are pushing it on. The D. & N. are in possession of the right of way and they are making good use of their time.

LATER PARTICULARS.

News was received here last night that the excitement was high in Durham yesterday and that the railroad war there assumed sensational proportions yesterday. It was reported that a force of men were sent to Durham yesterday by the Richmond & Danville people who tore up several hundred feet of the track laid by the Durham and Northern, when they were stopped the town authorities, who compelled them to replace it. Feeling is said to be very high among the citizens of Durham, some of whom are arrayed on one side and some on the other, and it was reported last night that some of the more enthusiastic citizens had gone to work to help the D. & N. force to build the track.

A Blind Boy's Power.

From the Esmeralda (Nev.) News.

There is a totally blind young man in Pine Grove, Esmeralda county, who has acquired powers that in a measure compensate him for his misfortune. Pine Grove is situated in a deep and narrow canyon, surrounded by high mountains and there is not a landmark within a radius of ten miles, that, if required to do so, this young man could not walk up to. He works in the mines as pick boy and general roustabout and at times runs a car. In that section every one is more or less familiar with the workings of the mines and knows that there are many crosscuts, inclines, etc., in every mine. The blind boy, if ordered to any portion of the mines to secure any tool, will accomplish the errand in as satisfactory a manner as would any of his fellow-workers with a lighted candle and good sight to aid them. From the centre of the town to the house where most of the men lodge it is quite a long distance, and on dark nights this young man, deprived by a seemingly hard providence of so great a blessing as sight, is depended upon to guide the men safely home, which he does, notwithstanding that on each side of the narrow trail there are many prospect holes and old cellars.

Mr. Cleveland's Record.

From the New York Commercial Advertiser.]

History will not forget that it was Mr. Cleveland who first dared face the encroachments of wealth-intrenched monopoly; that it was he who set himself to plead the cause of an over-taxed and wronged common people against the pretensions of the privileged class, and boldly to propose the breaking down of class privilege; that it was he who first fitly characterized the "communism of the rich," and set on foot a movement of reform whose course will not be stayed until the law shall cease to be an agency for the oppression and robbery of all the people in the interest of a favored few.

Decision of Character.

"Gentlemen," said the little man at the club, as he looked at his watch, rose to his feet, and took his hat, "it is now half-past nine and I promised my wife I would be home at ten. In matters of this kind I am rigid and inflexible. When my wife asks me to come home at a certain hour, and I promise to do so, I am firm as adamant in fulfilling that promise. Decision of character, gentlemen," he continued, as he thoughtfully rubbed a large triangular-shaped lump over his left ear, "is indispensable to any man who expects to hold his position as head of the family. Gentlemen, good evening."

The Fate of Sabel Island.

From the New York Sun.]

The Little speck known as Sabel Island, east of Nova Scotia, bids fair to meet the fate of fabled Atlantis. On every side the winds and waves are eating it away, and the process of demolition is going on so rapidly as to make it one of the novels of the Northern Atlantic. Two lighthouses have been destroyed, and another, some distance inland, was erected last summer to take their place. Every year shows a considerable decrease in the island's area, and the modifications the debris are making in the adjacent ocean bottom renders the surroundings marked on the charts of that region very unreliable. All that is left of the island seems destined to be strewn over the ocean bed, and the fate of Sabel Island will serve in the school geographies as a notable instance of the destructive powers of the waves.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable For a great many years Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. Time of sale, Monday, May 6th, 1889, at 12 M.
Terms, cash.

HENRY L. COOK,
April 3, 1889.—ts] Commissioner.

To the Public.

My financial troubles have been such that I have been forced to suspend business on my own account. But, as Agent for one with whom I have made satisfactory arrangements, I shall conduct for him the butchering business at my former stand—stalls Nos. 1 and 2 in the market. This change of circumstances and business relations compels me to require cash for all purchases or to decline to sell to any except those who will pay on presentation of bills.

It is out of my power to do otherwise, and I trust that a generous public will appreciate my condition and the necessity that drives me to this course, and that they will give the new business a liberal share of their patronage. Respectfully,

W. H. TOMLINSON, Ag't.

THURSDAY.....APRIL 18, 1889.

A VOICE FROM WITHIN.

Ex-Senator CHACE'S eloquent and pathetic appeal for "better pay for members of both branches of the National Congress," would doubtless have wreathed the faces of THOS. JEFFERSON, JOHN LAWRENCE or THEODORE SEDWICK, of a century ago, with smiles, could they but return for a moment to the scene of their boyhood days and witness the turmoil now going on at the "seat of war." The salary of $5,000 a year and mileage now paid to a Senator or Representative, with the additional, in the Senator's case, for the pay of a private secretary, would have seemed to these dead and gone Congressmen an allowance fit for a King. The first members of Congress were paid $6 a day for actual attendance at the session of Congress. Sometimes a member had to make a journey on horseback of 500 miles in order to attend the session. He was allowed a mileage of $6 for every twenty miles he had to travel in going to or returning from a session. Taking delays on account of bad weather and bad roads into consideration, 20 miles was about an average day's journey, so he was paid practically, $6 a day from the time he left home until he returned. In 1816 the first move in the direction of an annual salary without regard to attendance was made and Congress voted its members $1,500 a year. Congress evidently received some sharp rebuke for this extravagance, for the law was repealed next year and shortly afterwards the compensation was fixed at eight dollars per diem. These Statesmen of the new republic received their pay in a much depreciated currency, but the style of living then prevailing at the National Capital was simple and eight dollars a day even with a discount off was enough to provide a member with the ordinary comforts of the time. In 1806 the pay was raised to $6,000 for service in one Congress or $3,000 a year. At the close of the war the advance was made to $5,000 a year. In 1874 a further advance was made to $7,500 a year, and Congress made itself ridiculous by voting itself back pay at that rate from the beginning of the Congressional term and then hastily repealed the law increasing the Congressional salaries under stress of popular condemnation. Some members, however, kept their back pay. It is not safe for any man in Congress to begin an agitation for an increase of pay, but a man who has resigned his seat, as Mr. CHACE has, and returned to private life can, without rendering himself open to criticism, begin the campaign.

Five thousand dollars a year, however, is sufficient compensation for the services of any man in Congress to his constituents, and not a few of them are worth a great deal less. If, on the contrary, Washington life has assumed such artificial proportions that five thousand dollars a year and mileage is not adequate to the demands of the hour," it is high time that some one under the shadow of the dome of the Nation's Capital, establish a school for teaching Jeffersonian simplicity to the powers that be.

BLUE BACK.

MR. EDITOR:—To those who were taught forty or fifty years ago, it seems like an act of barbarism to expunge from the curriculum of the common schools "Webster's Spelling Book"—a book that has done more for the education of the masses than all other books combined, that have been published for the past forty years. There may be, and no doubt is, an apparent simplification in the present mode of instruction, but it is a deception; for the child who has but limited opportunities to get an education, can never find an equal for the old "blue back." He will have but a weak foundation upon which to build, unless it be laid in this excellent book.

Throughout the State, the press has very justly criticised the action of the Board of Education at its recent metting in Raleigh for voting this little, cheap, yet unparelelled book out of the public schools. The following from the Statesville Landmark is only one of the many condemnatory editorial notices of the unwise step of the Board of Education. Mr. Caldwell is high authority and his language is prophetic. He says: "The State Board of Education held a meeting at Raleigh Tuesday and voted the blue back spelling book out of the public schools of the State. This is the end of education in North Carolina so far as the public schools are concerned."

Remembering well, as this writer does, the days of long ago, when the old blue back spelling book was considered second in importance to that of the Bible to the household of almost every section of North Carolina, we feel that we would be recreant to our sense of duty as a journalist, did we fail to enter our most solemn protest against the recent action of our State Board of Education in expunging from the curriculum of the common schools of the State, Webster's Blue Back Spelling Book, undoubtedly one of the simplest educators the school room of the past, and the present as well, has ever possessed. Indeed, were it given a more conspicuous place, and substituted for the dumb bells and Kindergarten ideas in school rooms instead of so much "gilt edge" style for show, the result would be manifest and beneficial to the intellect of the present generation and especially so to the classes in public schools. Some things, however, look mighty pretty on a rostrum; others look equally so on paper, but in our mind Webster's blue back spelling book is as indispensable to the public schools of the State as Webster's Dictionary is to the English language.

FAYETTEVILLE PRESBYTERY AT CAMERON.

Rev. A. McQueen Elected Moderator—Delegates Appointed to the General Assembly at Chattanooga in May—Candidates for the Ministry, &c.

Reported for the Observer.]

Fayetteville Presbytery convened at Cameron, in Moore county, on the 10th inst. Most of the ministers were present and the churches were well represented by Elders. Rev. A. McQueen was made Moderator. The reports from the churches were favorable in many respects, though they did not show as large additions as in some former years.

Two young men were received under the care of the Presbytery as candidates for the ministry, making the whole number of candidates 14.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson, from Albany Presbytery, N. Y., was received after the prescribed examinations, and permission was granted Bethel and Bethesda churches to employ him as Stated Supply for one year. Mr. Johnson is a man of ability and culture and a very impressive preacher.

Arrangements were made for organizing a new church at Pike and one at Red Springs. Steps were taken looking to having regular services at Dunn's when the church is organized there.

Appropriations were made for aiding Culdee and White Hill churches in completing their buildings.

The supply of several vacant churches by candidates for the ministry, during the summer months, was authorized.

Rev. H. G. Hill and Capt. Wm. Black, of Maxton, N. C., as principals, and Rev. J. H. Colton and Mr. Lauchlin McDonald, as alternates, were appointed delegates to the General Assembly at Chattanooga in May.

The preaching during the Presbytery was excellent, the crowd very large, and the hospitality of the people in Cameron and its vicinity most generous and cordial.

PRESBYTER.

Knights of Pythias Celebration at Maxton.

Reported for the Observer.]

MR. EDITOR:—It was the pleasure of your correspondent to participate with the Maxton Lodge K. of P. in the celebration of their first anniversary on Wednesday evening last. Past Grand Chancellor, Mears, delivered one of the finest and most eloquent addresses that was ever delivered on the principles of the order; after which about 200 invited guests were called to partake of a supper which would suffice to appease the appetite of the most fastideous epicure, prepared by the ladies of Maxton. The music on the occasion was rendered by a select choir, with the accomplished wife of Dr. H. W. McNatt, officiating as organist, and Capt. Wm. Black as chorister. The occasion was one of pleasure to each and every participant, and no doubt its effect upon the community will greatly strengthen the interests of the Knights of Pythias in this section. Maxton Lodge was organized about a year ago, and has a membership of 38. It is in a flourishing condition, and will no doubt continue to prosper, as its members feel a special interest in its success, and diligently seek to increase their number. Please allow your correspondent to express his thanks to the Knights of Maxton Lodge for the invitation to participate with them and for the courtesies received at their hands on the occasion; and to wish them continued prosperity and many returns of the pleasure incident to the occasion of their first anniversary.

The next State Sunday School Convention will be held in Wilmington.

The Fayetteville Ice factory is now running day and night, with a daily capacity of 5,000 lbs.

The new cotton factory made their first shipment of thread to the Northern markets last week.

Rev. T. P. Barclay is expected to arrive in the city to-day and will fill his pulpit in the Presbyterian church next Sunday.

Mr. R. S. Huske, of this city, has been appointed a commisrioner by Governor Fowle to attend the Centennial anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as President of the United States at New York city, April 30th.

SEVEN DAY WONDERS.—The "Merry Workers," one of the auxilaries to Hay Street Methodist Church, will present to a Fayetteville audience in the near future a novel and attractive entertainment called "Seven Day Wonders."

"BELSHAZZAR."—Arrangements are being perfected by Mr. Novitzky, under the auspices of the Independent Company, for the redition of the popular cantata, "Belshazzar," sometime during the month of May.

RESIGNED.—Rev. R. T. Gray has resigned the pastorate of the Baptist Church of this city, and the same has been accepted to take effect July 1st, 1889. Mr. Gray has made many warm friends during his stay in Fayetteville, who will part with him very reluctantly.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT.—The young ladies and gentlemen of Fayetteville will give an entertainment at Williams Opera House in the near future, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the improvement of Eccles Park and to pay for the work recently done in this beautiful and attractive resort.

THE OBSERVER'S TRADE ISSUE.—Our Trade issue is booming, and if you are not represented in this mammoth edition it will be your fault not and ours, and you will be the one to regret it after it is too late. Therefore do not wait, but be ready when we call on you. Every one shall be given an opportunity.

THE CAROLINA CLUB.—The membership of the Carolina Club of this city is steadily increasing, and the rooms are being over hauled and supplied with new furniture, the tables with new cloths, balls and cushions and many other improvements are being made which contribute to the attractions and comfort of the rooms.

STEAMER "MINERVA."—The new steamer "Minerva," recently launched in the waters of the Cape Fear and built by the enterprising Jim McNeill, has passed inspection by the United States officers and is now ready for business. Her first trip up the Cape Fear was a signal success and much credit is due Mr. McNeill for his enterprise.

PROMPT SETTLEMENT.—Mr. H. O. Sedberry, Sec'y and Treasurer of the Endowment Rank of Knights of Pythias on Monday received a check for $3,000, and paid to Mrs. Fannie Schlossberg, being the amount of insurance held by her late husband in that order. The proof of loss left here on April 3rd. This speaks well for the promptness and reliability of this growing order which has and is still doing much good in a quiet way in this community.

CAPT. DAINGERFIELD.—The Henderson Gold Leaf says Capt. Daingerfield, a former Fayettevillian, but late of Henderson, has been re-elected Capt. of the Vance County Guards and speaks in the highest terms of Capt. Daingerfield as an officer, highly esteemed by the members of his Company, and universally admired by the citizens of Henderson. The same paper also reports the sad death of little Mabel Daingerfield, aged about ten years. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved parents.

THE F. I. L. I.—Three new members have been added to the membership of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry since our last issue, with more to follow. The Company is getting in fine trim and if "Our boys" bring away the prizes from Camp Latimer at Wrightsville this season, no one need not be surprised. Indeed if they do not some body will have to be up and doing. Two prizes, twenty-five and ten dollars respectfully, are to be awarded for the best drilled soldiers at a competitive drill to be held one week prior to the annual encampment. This is proving a capital idea and the result is, the weekly drills are largely attended and great interest manifested.

FAYETTEVILLE WILL CELEBRATE!

WITH POMP AND SPLENDOR,

THE CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY OF THE RATIFICATION OF THE FEDERAL CONSTITUION BY NORTH CAROLINA!

EX-PRESIDENT JEFFERSON DAVIS TO BE THE ORATOR OF THE DAY!

The patriotism of the historic town of Fayetteville—the capital city of the upper Cape Fear—made a prompt response to the call for a mass meeting of our citizens in Town Hall Tuesday afternoon, for the purpose of taking definite steps looking to a grand and glorious celebration of the centennial anniversary of the ratification of the Federal Constitution, by North Carolina, which event took place in this city November 21, 1789. Capt. N W. Ray, Mayor, was called to the Chair, and Z. W. Whitehead and H. I. McDuffie elected Secretaries.

Upon taking the Chair Capt Ray made a few brief but well-timed and appropriate remarks, invoking our people to be governed by the same degree of care and thoughtfulness that characterized the action of our forefathers on the same spot, one hundred years ago; that this event was an epoch in the history of our grand old Commonwealth; an event worthy of commemoration by all succeeding generations.

The following preamble and resolutions were offered by Col. W. J. Green, and unanimously adopted, amid the wildest enthusiasm:

WHEREAS: It is meet and appropriate that the great and good deeds of a people's ancestry should be kept ever alive in the hearts of those who follow after; and, whereas, experience has proven as the world now concedes, that the frame work of the Constitution of the United States of America is the highest embodiment of political wisdom that History can point to; and, whereas that great Charter of Human Rights was duly ratified by the State of North Carolina in Convention assembled in the town of Fayetteville. on the 21st day of November, 1789; therefore be it

Resolved, By the citizens of the said town and of the County of Cumberland in mass meeting assembled, this the 16th of April, 1889, that the approaching hundredth anniversary of the ratification by North Carolina of that great instrument shall be duly celebrated in the said town of Fayetteville on the 21st day of next November, and that all good citizens throughout the State, including the military in their organized capacity, as well as those of other States, are cordially invited to participate, and to make it as it deserves to be, the grandest gala event that ever took place within our State borders.

Resolved, That a committee consisting of five be appointed by the Chairman of this meeting, of which he shall be one, to be known as the Committee of Invitation, whose duty it shall be to select the orators and to invite other distinguished guests.

Resolved, That it is our earnest wish, as we believe it will be of the overwhelming mass of the people of the State, that the Hon. Jefferson Davis, the venerated ex President of the Confederate States, and the unswerving friend and life-long champion of Constitutional Liberty may be induced to officiate as the chief orator on the occasion.

The committee consists of Col. W. J. Green, Judge Jas. C. MacRae, Dr. W. C. McDuffie, Col. C. W. Broadfoot, and N. W. Ray.

The following resolution by Col. C. W. Broadfoot, was adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of twenty-five be appointed by the chair to be known as the Committee of Arrangements with full power to appoint such sub-committees as may be found necessary or convenient.

Also a resolution by Mr. H. L. Cook, as follows was adopted:

Resolved, That the Editor of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting. and that such other newspapers of our State as may favor our celebration be requested to copy the same.

Resolved, That this meeting returns its hearty thanks to such members of the press as have spoken kind words of our undertaking, and their aid so generously tendered is hereby accepted with full confidence that they will do all in their power to make the occasion memorable in the history of our State.

The Committee of twenty-five, as called for by Col. Broadfoot's resolution, are as follows:

J. D. Williams, E. J. Lilly, Hector McNeill, J. B. Starr, J. A. McArthur, H. R. Horne, J. D. Nott, A. B. Williams, A. D. McGill, Chas. Haigh, W. L. Williams, Dr. W. C. McDuffie, W. J. Smith, A. A. McKethan. Jr., J. S. Evans, W. F. Campbell, J. A. Gainey, T. H. Sutton, G. A. Thomson, W B. Draughon, D. H. Ray, G. M. Rose, R. M. Orrell, J. A. Pemberton, D. M. McDonald.

The meeting was enthusiastic and harmonious from the beginning, and when the name of Ex-President Davis was mentioned, such an outburst of applause as is seldom ever heard in these parts, followed.

On motion of Dr. W. C. McDuffie, the meeting then adjouned to meet again May 20th, to receive reports of the committees appointed, with the request that friends from the country be present and participate in the next meeting.

PINK-EYE AND GLANDERS.—These peculiar diseases which so often prove fatal and are so much dreaded by stock owners, now prevails in some sections of the State and we have learned of several cases in in this county. The Wilmington papers of the 16th, inst. report the prevalence of this disease in that city as epidemic, and have had two horses and a mule killed to prevent if possible, the contagion.—From Dr. W. H. Ray, United States Veterinary Surgeon, we ascertain a fact with reference to the disease known as "glanders," which if true is worthy of the consideration of our people, and should receive publicity throughout the State, to wit: that "glanders is especially fatal to human kind and is sure death to an inoculated person in from four to ten days." From remarks made by Dr. Ray on the subject as reported in the Wilmington Messenger, we extract the following:

"Dr. Wray, in answer to a question stated that glanders was the most fatal disease known to horses. It is incurable, and as soon as an animal is infected and the nature of the disease ascertained, the best thing to do is to shoot him and bury the remains as deep as bossible. It takes from eight to ten days for a case to develop after an animal has had a chance of infection, and in acute cases the disease causes death in from one to three weeks. In some instances, however, chronic cases have been known to run for years, and such a case will infect all horses that come in reach.

A FATAL DISEASE TO MAN.

Glanders is especially fatal to human kind, and is sure death to an innoculated person in from four to ten days. It results in persons from innoculation, and is more apt to attack sores or cut places on the hands or other portions of the body."

TENTH OF MAY.—The machinery of the Ladies' Memorial Association of Fayetteville seems to be a little out of gear, for some cause or other, relative to the approaching 10th of May celebration; and to the end that the day may be properly observed in this city, the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry passed the following resolutions Monday night:

Resolved, 1st. That this Company does hereby offer to the ladies of Fayetteville their full co-operation in any plans they may advocate for the proper celebration of the 10th of May next.

Resolved, 2nd. That the ladies of the town, and others interested in the proper observance of the day be requested to meet at the armory at 8.30 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday, April 24th, for the purpose of uniting on some plan to this end.

We hope the meeting at the time and place above mentioned will be largely attended by the fair sex and noble women of our prtriotic city, whose love for, and devotion to, the memory of the heroes of the lost cause, have ever been uppermost in the hearts of our people. Heaven forbid that we should ever cease to cherish, and to honor their memory. And

"On memory's fair pages let there bo a bright spot,
Unblurred by erasures, unmarred by a blot,
Kept sacred to fathers who suffered and died,
For a cause they loved more than all else beside;
And oft as the spring time with music and bowers,
Makes all our fair land an Eden of flowers,
Let us hasten with wreathlets and tokens of love,
Our ever increasing devotion to prove.
Let us deck with bright garlands the wide scattered graves
Of Jackson's and Lee's and Beauregard's braves.
Let us sing of their valor in story and song,
And such a grand pæn of praise prolong,
That all the land's millions enraptured shall pause,
To learn of the heroes of this our lost cause."

FROM WASHINGTON TO NEW ORLEANS.—We had a pleaasnt chat with Mr. Perry, one of the gentlemen in charge of the construction of the MacKey Bennett and Postal telegraph company's wires for the new line of telegraph. Mr. P. reports fine progress in construction of the line and thinks Fayetteville will be in telegraph communication with Washington City and all points North and West via the new line, on or about the first of June. The line of route for the wires will be the old stage road from Washington City to New Orleans, taking in the principal cities and towns of the Southern states. Aarrangements have been made for the Fayetteville office to be located in the Thornton Block, the same building in which is now located the Western Union.

COME TO THE PEARSON MEETINGS.

For the Observer.]

"When the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in place." This was spoken of by the apostles who, with one accord, being assembled together "in one place," were blessed by God and had His Holy Spirit poured out upon them. Many christian people in Fayetteville have resolved with one accord to assemble in one place, and through prayer and the preaching of God's Word, seek the salvation of souls and the upbuild ing of His Kingdom

Committees have been appointed to visit every family in Fayetteville and request attendance upon the meetings which are shortly to be held. Christians are earnestly requested to attend, that their example, their presence and their prayers may strengthen the Preacher and hold up his hands. But christians should come "with one accord" that is, with but one idea, the good of Christ's cause. No promptings of idle curiosity, no desire of strengthening the membership of the church on earth should draw them, but in spirit of unanimity they should come lifting up Christ in their hearts. If this is not the spirit in which God's people wait upon Him in His holy temple, he will not bless their efforts.

Old men, middle-aged men, young men, all men and all people are earnestly invited to come and hear God's servant speak concerning the all important question of the immortal soul and the life that is to come. Adverse criticisms may be made, and are being made every day, as to the good results of religious revival meetings, but that does not alter the case that it i appointed unto all men to die; nor does it alter the case that the Christian religion is the only reasonable solution of the great mystery of life and death. It is the aim of these meetings to hold up that religion to those who have not yet embraced it. "Come with us, and we will do thee good."

The citizens of Fayetteville with that generosity for which they are so much noted, have given liberally of their means, and a large, comfortable, well-ventilated and well lighted building has been erected especially for Rev. Mr. Pearson to preach in; a large choir is being instructed to sing during the services; ushers will take charge of the congregations, and see that all are seated without trouble or confusion; special cheap rates have been procured over the railroads and on the river steamers. In fact everything that would tend to the success of the Preacher's labors has been done. But, most important of all, union services and prayer meetings are being held, and christian men and women are constantly praying, both publicly and privately, that God will abundantly pour out the rich blessings of His grace upon His waiting people. Trusting in his promise according to "your faith, so be it unto you," they think they have good reason to hope that their labors will be richly blessed by the conversion of many souls.

Again, the invitation is extended. "come with us and we will do thee good."

COM.

The Late W. J. McDonald, Sr.

For the Observer.]

It is not often that we see men past middle life reverse their course of action and enter on a career entirely different in purposes, aims, efforts, and methods. Such a change is not short of the marvellous, and there are not lacking men to say that it is insincere. It was my exalted privilege to witness the regeneration and conversion of Mr. McDonald from worldliness to God. It has not been a year since he publicly confessed Christ and joined His people. A man who always has friends must have some strong and good traits. Mr. McDonald always had devoted friends. He was kind-hearted and generous by nature, true as steel and perfectly candid. I do not think that he ever could have pretended to be what he was not. For a long time he hesitated about joining the church, but his mind once made up, he acted promptly. The development of his Christian character was rapid and most beautiful to see. The whole man, time, brain, energy, money, was consecrated to God's use. He found great strength and comfort in prayer. He found the Bible to be like "honey to his taste." The simple story of the Cross would cause his eyes to overflow with tears of gratefulness and joy. Often a great sufferer from physical pain, he saw in it a way to do God's will. Ready? did you say? Aye! "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life." "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin." "He that doeth the will of God abieth forever." May his friends be encouraged by his example as well as warned by the suddenness of his death. No! not death! He has gone before! Never can I forget the streaming eyes, and choked utterance with which he bade me farewell, for he loved me and I loved him!

A. L. P.

Birmingham, Ala., March 25, 1889.

President Battle of the University on the Approaching Celebration in Fayetteville.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.
March 27, 1889.

Mr. Z. W. Whitehead,

DEAR SIR:—Your suggestion of having a celebration in Fayetteville next Fall commemorative of the concurrent meetings of the Convention and the General Assembly of 1789 seems to me full of sense. Besides being notable for the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, the grant of the charter of the University, and the cession of the territory of Tennessee, all which were of general interest; the first amendment to our State Constitution was made in the same year, of peculiar importance to your town. Fayetteville was made a borrough town, entitled to send a member to the House of Commons, like Edenton, Newberne, Wilmington, Hillsborough, Salisbury and Halifax. This change was of great advantage to the State, because your people elected excellent representatives, such as John Louis Taylor, afterwards Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, John Hay, and Wm. Duffy, eminent lawyers, John A. Cameron, afterwards United States Judge of Florida, John Winslow, a most solid and useful member; Robert Strange, a Judge and United States Senator, and those strong lawyers, John D. Eccles and Louis D. Henry.

Fayetteville has a great deal to be proud of, and should not keep herself in the background. Very truly,

KEMP P. BATTLE.

Items From Harnett.

Reported for the Observer.]

An assignment was made last week by Messrs. Massengill and Lee of Dunn for the benefit of creditors. The cause of the failure was too great indulgence in the credit system. It is said that the firm holds mortgages on nearly one-third of the crops made in the county. Many of these debts are held for guano recently bought. They will be able to pay about fifty cents on the dollar.

It is gratifying to know that the truckers have formed an association for the protection of their interests. The plan was inaugurated at Clinton the other day where a large and enthusiastic convention of farmers from every section of Eastern North Carolina was held. This is a business that needs protection especially against railroads. Trucking is profitable when not over done.

Rev. Mr. McBryde has been preaching at different points throughout the county and has succeeded in so arousing the Presbyterians that they have determined to establish a church at Dunn in the near future. The necessary enthusiasm has been excited, and little excepting the funds is needed to complete and perpetuate the worthy enterprise.

Spout Springs.

Reported for the Observer.]

Another cold wave struck these parts on the night of the 12th inst.

Farmers about here have commenced planting corn.

Fires have done considerable damage around here during the last few days. A fire started from Maj. Huske's saw mill on the 6th inst., and carried destruction before it as it went. It burned the fences from three plantations and the houses on one place.

There was a fire started from Messrs. McArthur Bros., at Rock Branch, which, from all I can learn, was the most destructive of any, as it burned several farms with out-houses, including corn-cribs and barns of forage.

Mr. J. G. Pendergrass has moved his family from here to Swann's mill.

FUNNY THING A BABY IS.

Funny thing a baby is,
With its little, wrinkled phiz;
Scarce a hair upon its head,
Mottled, purple, white and red
From its cunning, cherry nose
To its tiny, puckered toes—
Truly, very certain 'tis
Funny thing a baby is.
But the passing day will bring
Changes unto every thing;
Nature no distinction shows,
And the baby daily grows.
Scanty hair is getting longer,
Little limbs becoming stronger.
Parents with their longing eyes
Watch its freaks in pleased surprise,
"Ooty gogen, da! da! da!
Will it come to its ma or pa?"
'Tis no matter—that will quite
Depend upon its appetite—
Very, very certain 'tis
Funny thing a baby is.
May be it will come to pass
That the little, pudgy mass
Has a mighty mission here
On this tossed and troubled sphere.
If a boy perhaps 'twill be
Greater man than you or me;
Maybe be to Congress sent.
Maybe make a President.
If a girl, in beauty's field,
She the scepter yet may wield;
Wit and genius at her feet
Shall rehearse a story sweet,
Or the glamour of her eyes
Win for her a golden prize.
But the issue none can tell,
Be it ill or be it well;
Yet a truth most certain 'tis
Funny thing a baby is.—Chicago Mail.

How to Rest.

Dr. Jackson's Health Journal says a cat is a sermon to nervous people. She finds the quietest spot about the place, where it is cozy or sunny, or in summer, shady, drops down just as her flesh will drop, with each muscle relaxed and goes to sleep. The doctor's cat sermon is that we Americans do not know how to rest or sleep, or how to recuperate and make the most of life. What we need is to know how to relax every time we feel tired or fagged, instead of pegging on under stimulus of tea or alcohol.
